

The Ecole supérieure d'art et design le Havre-Rouen (ESADHaR) is a public institution of higher education in art, design and creative writing in Normandy, located along the Seine river and easily accessible by train from Paris.

ESADHaR has about 300 students spread over two campuses, each with its own speciality. Graphic design and Creative writing at Campus Le Havre, Fine Art at Campus Rouen.

ESADHaR offers an extensive range of studios, workshops and equipments : screen printing, engraving, lithography, wood, ceramics, fablab, metal, bookbinding, photography, video, virtual reality... ESADHaR's numerous international partnerships offer opportunities for students to participate in exchanges within the framework of ERASMUS + but also around the world.

Two specialized libraries allow students to learn and deepen their comprehension in the fields of art and design.

Gallery spaces on each campus host exhibitions by professional artists and support students to perfect their skills and promote their works.

An ambitious publication policy of books by artist and reviews enables dissemination and diffusion of research.

ESADHaR awards national diplomas of the French Ministry of Culture, granted the equivalence of bachelor's and master's degrees.
